

SENATE PASSES WEBB LIQUOR BILL

Measure Adopted as Substitute For Kenyon-Sheppard Bill

DIFFERS FROM HOUSE BILL

If Bill Number is Changed It Will go Directly to President for Signing

OTHER WASHINGTON DOINGS

WASHINGTON, FEB. 10.—The senate tonight passed the Webb liquor bill, already passed by the house as a substitute for the Kenyon-Sheppard bill.

The Webb bill would prohibit shipments of intoxicating liquors from one state to another when intended to be received or sold in violation of the law of the state which the shipment is made.

Friends of the legislation now seek to have the house concur in the senate bill, which differs from the bill passed by the house only in number. Should that be done the bills will not be considered in conference, but the bill passed by the senate will go to the president for his signature.

The substitution of the Webb bill for the Kenyon-Sheppard bill came at the close of prolonged debate and was by voice vote, no rolling being demanded.

Senator Sheppard during the day had failed to get unanimous consent for the substitution of the Webb bill for the bill of which he was a joint author. Senator Kenyon co-author of the senate bill closed the debate by asking that the Webb bill be substituted as the order of the day did not permit the voting on the Webb bill as an independent measure.

The voting was first upon the perfection of the Kenyon-Sheppard bill. By a vote of 61 to 23 the senate agreed to the committee amendment adding a section to the bill which provided in terms that intoxicating liquors should become subject to state laws upon crossing state boundaries.

Senator Hitchcock's amendment to exempt liquor intended for personal use was defeated without a roll call and one by Senator O'Gorman excepting liquor intended for personal and for sacramental use was likewise defeated 31 to 59. Senator Kenyon succeeded in having his measure amended to become operative July 1st, 1913. Thereupon Senator Gallinger asked for the substitution of the Webb bill for the senate measure. He like-wise succeeded in having the title amended so as to bring the two houses in accord except as to the number of the bills.

PRESIDENT OF SAN SALVADOR DIES OF MENINGITIS

Wounds Suffered by the President at the Hands of an Assassin Complicated by Disease Caused His Death.

San Salvador, Feb. 10.—The death of Don Manuel E. Araujo, president of the republic yesterday, was due to meningitis which set in the previous day, thus complicating the wounds suffered by the president at the hands of an assassin.

The president's body has been embalmed and will lie in state for three days. Don Carlos Melendez, who was elected by congress to succeed to the office of chief executive, is one of the wealthiest citizens of San Salvador.

The plot against President Araujo seems to be widespread and many persons have been arrested charged with being implicated. No official statement has yet been made to the public. The general condition of the country is tranquil but bitter resentment is felt over the attack on the president.

HOPE TO REACH AN AGREEMENT

New York, Feb. 10.—The action of President W. S. Carter of the Brotherhood of Locomotive firemen and engineers in withholding the result of the strike ballot of the 39,000 firemen employed on 54 eastern railroads until it can be presented at the meeting tomorrow evening has caused the men and the conference committee of railroad managers to be taken as indicating that both sides of the controversy hope that an agreement yet may be reached and a result the strike will be averted.

AUTO BANDITS AGAIN

SIXTEEN KILLED IN BATTLE WITH STRIKERS

MINERS AND AUTHORITIES CLASH NEAR MUCKLOW

Twelve of the Strikers Are Dead and Four Mine Guards are Killed—Six Companies of Militia Have Been Ordered Out.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., FEB. 10.—Sixteen persons are dead and a score wounded, as the result to day between strikers and authorities near Mucklow, W. Va., in the Kanawha coal strike district.

Twelve of the dead are strikers and four were members of the mine guards and railroad police. Of the injured fifteen are said to be strikers and other guards.

The guards killed were William Radcliffe, James Vance, Bernard Crockett and James Hendrix. Fred Bobbitt, book-keeper for the Paint Creek collieries company reported killed to day still is alive tonight but little chance for recovery. Another of the wounded is Lieut. R. L. Taylor of the national guard who had been investigating conditions in the strike district. Eight strikers were captured and brought here tonight charged with rioting. Of the five companies of state militia ordered to the strike district by Governor Glasscock early tonight, two from this city reached their destination about 9 o'clock. The three companies from Huntington are expected before midnight. Tonight a sixth company was ordered to proceed from Fayetteville for Mucklow. Only meagre details of the battle to day have reached the state authorities here. Exact conditions in the strike country tonight are not known as communication is crippled as a result of cut telegraph and telephone wires.

MONTENEGRINS MEET HEAVY FIGHTING ABOUT SCUTARI

Are Reported to Have Captured Bardanjoli Hill at Cost of 2500 Men—Turkish Loss 4000.

London, Feb. 10.—Severe fighting has occurred in the attempt of the Montenegrins to capture Scutari. The Montenegrins are reported to have taken Bardanjoli Hill, one of the strategic positions, but at a cost of 2500 men killed or wounded. The same despatches place the Turkish loss at 4,000 men.

Thousands of fresh troops have been arriving at Constantinople from Anatolia and in the last few days several troop ships have departed, but their destination has not been divulged.

There are signs that the porte realizes the hopelessness of the situation and is preparing to leave the fate of Turkey in the hands of Europe to obtain the best possible settlement.

Although it is officially denied that Hakkı Pasha has been sent on a peace mission to London, there is little doubt that that is his object.

KILLED BY TRAIN AS WIFE ARRIVES FROM EUROPE

Five Minutes After Lamont Man's Death Telegram Comes Announcing Landing of His Wife in New York.

Five minutes later the telegraph operator received a message from New York for the dead man, saying that his wife had just landed from Europe and would start at once to join him. Leskow was expecting the message and was hurrying to get it when he was killed. At the moment Leskow was struck by the train, another man, who has not been identified, also was killed by the same train.

MADERO IS STILL HEAD OF MEXICO

PRESIDENT GIVES OFFICIAL
VERSION OF UPRISING

Says Diaz is in Possession of Suburbs of Mexico City but that the Government Will Soon Retake them—No Fighting Reported Sunday.

MEXICO CITY, FEB. 10.—President Francisco Madero is back in the national palace, and Senora Madero is in Chapultepec castle. The president's brief disappearance from the palace caused a rumor that he had taken to flight but it appears that he was absent only a short time and since then has been spending his time in conferring with General Huerta, Ernesto Madero, the minister of finance and other ministers.

Consul Lozano propounded a series of questions to the Mexican executive to set at rest disquieting rumors which had been in circulation during the day. President Madero orally dictated his replies to the operator. He assured Consul Lozano that neither he nor his family had sought refuge in flight, calling attention to his presence to dictate to the operator as proof.

He also denied that Monterey was in possession of the rebels. He also said that Diaz has in possession only about one public square. He said Zapatas were not anywhere near Tlalpam. The cabinet has not resigned, Madero declared, the members really doing all in their power to assist the government.

President Madero reiterated his confidence that the government had the situation well in hand and hoped to effect the capture of the Diaz forces within 24 hours.

The president declared he was going to Chapultepec tomorrow.

Diaz Holds Army in Leash. Mexico City, Feb. 10.—General Felix Diaz, whose hold stroke Sunday almost overthrew the Madero administration, held his army in leash today. Nor did the scattered government forces dare at attack him in his fortified positions in and about the arsenal.

Still hoping that he might attain complete control without further loss of life or destruction of property, General Diaz surprised the capital by refraining from turning his heavy guns upon the national palace. The government's position has not been materially altered since yesterday although a few of General Blazquez's soldiers have been announced to have arrived and a small detachment of rurales has ridden into the city. The forces of General Diaz were not materially augmented either, but the proximity of the Zapistas and the promised early arrival of rebels from the state of Vera Cruz, appear to have strengthened his hand.

War Rumors Vague. Although almost incomprehensible it has been impossible for residents of the capital to ascertain the truth regarding the movements of a general whom the government expects to come to the aid of General Huerta the newly appointed post commander. Officially it has been announced that General Blanquez and Gen. Angeles are in the city, but this is denied in quarters equally trustworthy. The establishment of martial law has served to keep inquirers blocked from the most authoritative sources of information and the people, keyed to the highest pitch of expectancy, swallow with greediness scores of rumors of alarming character.

At one time during the forenoon General Huerta believed he was justified in risking an attack on the rebels, but the latter trained their guns down the streets leading to their positions and prepared to resist. This proved unnecessary for Huerta's plan was changed.

Combating Mile Apart. Then a report gained credence that the rebels were about to take the offensive and attack the national palace but the day closed without a single encounter between the federals and the rebels, lying about a mile apart.

One report which was not entertained seriously by thinking people was that the government proposed to shell the capital in an effort to subjugate Diaz and his troops. According to this plan the government would plant its cannon on a hill three miles out and there attempt to drop shells among the rebels.

FAMOUS EXPLORERS LOST IN BLIZZARD

CAPT. SCOTT AND FOUR MEN ARE REPORTED LOST

Weak From Hunger and Exposure They are Overcome by Blizzard Near the South Pole—King Pays Tribute to Capt. Scott.

LONDON, FEB. 10.—At a meeting of the Royal Geographical society this evening announcement was made of the disaster which has overtaken Capt. F. Scott's antarctic expedition resulting in the death of Captain Scott, Dr. E. A. Wilson, Lieutenant H. W. Bowers, Captain L. E. G. Oates and Petty Officer E. Evans.

Captain Scott's party, Douglas W. Freshfield, vice-president of the geographical society, said, in making the announcement found Capt. Raoul Amundsen's tent and records at the south pole. On the return trip about March 29th, 1912, eleven miles from One Ton Depot, a blizzard overcame them. They had suffered greatly from hunger and exposure and the death of Scott, Bowers and Wilson was virtually due to that. They died soon after the blizzard swept down on the party.

Oates died from exposure a few days later. The death of Evans resulted from a fall. The other members of the expedition are reported to be in good health. A searching party discovered the bodies and records some time later.

A message of sympathy to the geographical society from the king was read, in which his majesty said: "I am deeply grieved to hear the bad news you give me of the loss of Captain Scott and four of his party just when we were hoping shortly to welcome them home on their return from their great and arduous undertaking. I heartily sympathize with the Royal Geographical society in the loss to science and discovery through the death of these gallant explorers."

The message from the king was a reply to a notification sent by the society to his majesty.

The regular program of the meeting was abandoned and members of the society listened sadly to tributes to the explorers. After giving what details he had received, Vice-President Freshfield reviewed the plans of the expedition and said:

"No party ever sent out better equipped or better fitted by gallantry and experience than its members, from Captain Scott down, to meet the ordinary perils of the poles. But antarctic travel would not be what it is—a training ground for the highest qualities of the British race—if these perils could be avoided. After an expression of sympathy for Mrs. Scott, he concluded:

"All that we can say to these brave men is farewell. They are a band of heroes whose names will shine as an example of that endurance which is the highest form of courage. Captain Scott will live in our memories as the ideal of the English sailor of our age, a man intellectually gifted, brave, resourceful in all emergencies and full of scientific zeal and enthusiasm."

Members of parliament and high officials of the navy department, including the first lord of the admiralty, Winston Spencer Churchill, pay high tributes to the explorers in interviews in the morning papers, which also contain eulogistic editorials about members of the expedition.

Find Bodies in Trail. Further information regarding the geographical society says that the rescue party which left Cape Evans late in October reached One Ton Depot and found the provisions in good order. The party traveled along the southern route and came upon Scott's tent on November 12th. With it lay the bodies of Scott, Wilson and Bowers.

Captain Scott's little son, Peter is staying with his grandmother at Henley, to whom the news was broken to day.

Died on Return Journey. Madison, Wis., Feb. 10.—Captain Amundsen made the following report to Scott's expedition in his lecture tonight.

"I wish to express by most sincere sympathy to Captain Scott's wife and regret deeply to hear the news concerning him and his brave comrades. The pity of it was that Scott reached the south pole and died on the return journey."

When he showed a picture of the little tent left at the pole he said: "As we know, the tent and the flag above it have been found."

Death Not Due to Cold. New York, Feb. 10.—"No blizzard could have killed so experienced an explorer as Scott," to day declared Vilhjalmr Stefansson, discover of the Vinland Vikings in the arctic regions. If many of the Scott expedition perished it was through starvation; if a few, death may have been due to a fall into a crevasse, in the opinion of Stefansson.

"Out on a Western prairie a rancher might get caught in a snow storm unawares and be frozen in not in the arctic regions where a man is acclimated to cold and exposure," he said. "Daring always some great calamity such as an earthquake, salvation is 'it only this that can have killed Scott."

"Just what caused the disaster, it is impossible to say with any sureness. If it were only a question of Scott himself and perhaps one of

MANY KILLED AND INJURED IN RIOTS

SIX KILLED AND 65 INJURED IN POLITICAL RIOTS IN JAPAN

Mobs Attack Offices of Newspapers and Threaten Dwellings of Ministers—Premier of Japan Stoned on Street by Mob.

TOKIO, FEB. 10.—Six persons were killed and sixty-five seriously injured in the political rioting here today. The situation tonight is serious. The premier of Japan was stoned by a mob in the streets. His resignation has been demanded by the people. Mobs attacked the offices of the bureaucratic newspapers and threatened the dwellings of the ministers. They burned and wrecked police stations, tram cars and public buildings.

Detachments of troops patrol the streets. Each newspaper office is protected by a guard of fifty soldiers, to whom bayonets fixed for instant use. The minister of the imperial household announces that martial law will be proclaimed if there are any further attempts at incendiarism. A mass meeting was held this afternoon in Itoya park, in the center of the city. The mob started from there to attack Prince Katsura's dwelling. Police with drawn swords drove them back, wounding many of the demonstrators.

Attack Newspaper Plant.

The crowds reassembled around the building of the newspaper Kokumin Shimbun with the intention of burning it. The staff of the newspaper offered strenuous resistance with fire arms, swords and knives. One of the rioters was killed by a bullet fired from the building. This only served to infuriate the mob which then looted the oil shops and attacked the offices of other newspapers.

In a second attack on the Kokumin Shimbun building bundles of straw were set on fire and thrown within. The fighting became desperate. Two more persons were killed and more than a score wounded. Earlier in the day great crowds collected outside the Diet, where strong police forces were drawn up to protect the members. The disorders began with the throwing of missiles at the police. Several times throughout the morning the serious collisions ensued. Three persons were killed and twenty-five wounded in that neighborhood.

Ask Resignation of Cabinet.

Strong pressure is being brought to bear upon the cabinet for its resignation, and it is expected that the ministers will resign before the Diet reassembles three days hence. Marquis Saonji, the former premier, has resigned the presidency of the Constitutional party, out of respect for the throne, it having been the emperor's expressed wish that Premier Katsura be not opposed in his present course. The Constitutional party today resolved, practically unanimously, to fight the government to a finish.

Many respect Prince Katsura's attempt to break up the opposition to his ministry by the use of an imperial rescript addressed to Marquis Saonji hence the popular demand for his resignation.

MOTHER AND SON FOUND MURDERED.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 10.—Mrs. Genio Ponzo, and her son Jeremiah were murdered some time Sunday night in their home at 576 Barclay street, at the crime was not discovered until midnight tonight. The mother had made a terrific struggle but the woman had been stabbed to death without a struggle.

APPEARS TO BE ANOTHER LONG DEADLOCK.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 10.—From a Democratic standpoint the senatorial fight in the Illinois legislature is in the worst chaotic condition tonight that it has been anytime since the convening of the general assembly only six weeks ago. Barring in the separate houses will start tomorrow but no one knows tonight what may happen. On the eve of actual balloting in the separate houses every indication points to another tie-up and a long drawn out deadlock.

UNITED STATES WILL KEEP "HANDS OFF"

Sufficient Naval Force Will be Sent to Insure Protection

WILL MAKE NO LANDINGS

There Will be no Landing Parties Except in Emergency Cases

WILL PROTECT FOREIGNERS

WASHINGTON, FEB. 10.—The revolutionary uprising in Mexico City completely absorbed the attention of President Taft and state, war and navy departments to day and at the end of a series of conferences, it was determined that all this government could do was to send a sufficient naval force to Mexican waters to afford refuge for foreigners and to observe and report upon conditions in the troubled republic as they develop. In accordance with this decision Secretary Meyer ordered the Armored Cruiser Colorado now at San Diego, to proceed at once to the Mexican port of Mazatlan. Another vessel in the Pacific fleet, probably the Armored Cruiser South Dakota, also at San Diego, will be despatched to Acapulco on the west coast of Mexico to take a post to be vacated by the Gunboat Denver, which was ordered to Central America. It also was decided to send two battleships to the gulf coast of Mexico but the choice of these ships was left to Admiral Badger who was immediately cabled to pick out two ships ready for instant service and to send one to Vera Cruz and another to Tampico. The Colorado which goes to Mazatlan is Admiral Southard's flagship, who, it is practically assured will go in person to Mexican waters. These orders were given after a cabinet meeting to day, followed by conferences between the secretaries of state and navy and the army general staff, while Assistant Secretary of State Wilson and W. T. S. Doyle, of the Latin American bureau, were in communication with Secretary Meyer's naval aides regarding the disposition of warships. Though little official information was received by the government from Mexico City, enough facts were at hand to warrant decision upon a course of action which included renewal of the determination to keep "hands off" in Mexico. In announcing the despatch of ships to Mexican waters the state department issued a statement outlining the position of this government.

To Protect Foreigners.

The state department has made it plain that there is to be no landing parties beyond those that might be necessary in emergency to put down anarchy in the ports where the ships may be, nor as present is there any intention of organizing a naval expedition to penetrate the country as far as the capital. Indeed it was pointed out the main object of this government, which at this moment is the protection of the lives of Americans and other foreigners in Mexico, probably would be defeated by any such movement, as the appearance of a hostile expedition of Americans on Mexican soil, might cause the massacre of many Americans at isolated points in the interior of the country.

The opinion prevails in official circles that this last storm which has broken over Mexico will be followed by the restoration of a permanent stable government. If Madero triumphs he will be so strong as to be able to make short work of smaller revolts dragging on in outlying portions of the country. If Diaz should secure control of the fortress of Chapultepec, overlooking Mexico City and now the presidential residence, either he would be joined by the leaders of the rebellion in the north or south or be in a position to compel their surrender in short order.

Introduce Three Resolutions.

Three resolutions were introduced in congress during the day regarding the Mexican situation, introduced in their respective houses a joint resolution directing the administration to take immediate steps to safeguard American lives and property. Representative Murdock of Kansas introduced a resolution of inquiry directing the secretary of state to inform the house what steps if any have been taken to protect the lives and property of American citizens in the Republic of Mexico.

These measures were referred to the foreign relations and foreign affairs committee of the two houses. Representative Hamill conferred to day with colleagues who have an intimate knowledge of Mexican conditions and will speak on the Mexican situation in the house probably Wednesday, pointing out the immense in fact to American interests sustained in Mexico during the recent revolts.

MEXICAN SMUGGLERS FIRE ON AMERICANS.

Marfa, Feb. 10.—United States Customs Inspectors Joseph Shetter and Jack Howard and Cattle Inspector H. A. Hardwick were while searching for a band of Mexican cattle smugglers and cattle thieves near the village of Pilares on the Rio Grande.

LIGHT BOND ORDINANCE GIVEN FIRST READING IN COUNCIL

Provides $50,000 for Improvement of Municipal Plant and System—
Special Council Bill Is Approved.

The regular weekly session of the city council was held Monday. Mayor Davis presided and all the commissioners were present. Reports of Dr. A. M. King, health warden and Miss Weller, city matron were read and approved. The bill of Bellatti, Barnes & Bellatti for legal services and court fees in connection with Jacksonville Water Co., suits was allowed at $4973. The ordinance providing for the issuance of $50,000 bonds for light improvement was given the first reading. Three library directors were appointed.

The council was called to order at ten o'clock and after roll call the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The reports of Dr. A. M. King and Miss Weller and were received and placed on file. Extracts from these reports are given below. The bill of Bellatti Barnes & Bellatti for $4973 for legal services, and court fees in connection with the Jacksonville Water Co., litigation was approved.

The ordinance providing for the issuance of bonds to the extent of $50,000 for improving the light plant was then read. J. A. Bellatti who drew the ordinance was present and several points in connection with it were discussed by him and Mayor Davis and it was decided to adjourn until two o'clock in the afternoon in order to give Mr. Bellatti opportunity to look up several points. Commissioner Newman also desired an adjournment as he said that he was not familiar with the ordinance and wished to look into it. Mr. Newman said that the public would ask various questions about the why and the wherefore of light plant improvement and he wanted to be in position to answer them. He was not opposed to a bond issue but simply wanted to get some additional information before the matter came to a vote.

He said that some people felt that the city should be getting cheaper than it could be produced. Mr. Brennan said he had seen figures in his office showing the expense of running the plant and would furnish a copy to Mr. Newman.

Mayor Davis emphasized the need of light improvement and expressed the hope that the council would be in a unit in whatever action was decided upon in trying to improve the plant.

Commissioner Brennan said the street lamps now used are so obsolete that repairs for them can no longer be secured and all that he can do now is to take pieces from one lamp and fit them to others and so keep as many as possible going. He believes that within a few months that unless new lamps can be provided that there will be practically no lamps outside the business district.

At the two o'clock session the ordinance was given the first formal reading and then was laid over under the rules. The ordinance provides for an issue of $50,000 in 4 1/2 per cent bonds, $2,500 payable the first of July each year thus canceling the entire issue in twenty years. After the ordinance is passed then the question will be put to a vote of the people.

At this session Mayor Davis named as directors of the public library for a term of three years, Judge M. T. Layman, T. B. Reeve and J. W. Walton. J. K. C. Pierson whose term on the board has expired sent a letter to the mayor declining appointment. The nominations were confirmed.

Officers Reports.

The ages were one to five; 1; twenty to fifty, 4; fifty to seventy, 12; over seventy 2. Contagious diseases: three cases diphtheria, 3 cases and one death; scarlet fever 7; measles 25; tuberculosis 1.

Valentines, any kind. Obermeyer. FORUM LITERARY SOCIETY.

Splendid Program Given and Business Transacted.
The Forum Literary society of the high school held an interesting meeting Monday evening. The program opened with a violin solo by Frank Gruener, aided with Miss Grace McLaughlin as accompanist. Prof. Paul Morrison next gave the society an interesting and instructive talk on "How the Forum Originated." The society has worked out a new initiation system and last night the work was given ten members to determine its popularity. A vote was taken and the society voted to adopt the new initiation.
The members made some further arrangements for their masquerade party to take place in Degen's hall, Feb. 21. The society is also working on a mock trial, which will be presented at the first meeting of the Forum in April.

"A World Weary Man" was one of the films shown last night at the Majestic and it told a story of great beauty and interest. The actions of a millionaire who tired of society life and went down into the slums and befriended a little waif were related in a very entertaining manner. The Majestic always has high class pictures.

SAFETY DEPOSIT BOXES HAVE CONSTANTLY GROWING DEMAND

People Appreciate Convenience and Security of This Department at Ayers National Bank.

The Safety Deposit department at the Ayers National bank is a busy place and the daily number of visitors shows no diminution as the days go by. The average citizen who has been reading the papers has a pretty clear idea of the system used but nevertheless visitors find much to interest them when they are conducted through the heavy gate, and cross the steel threshold of the vault. The massive circular door which although it weighs an enormous tonnage is so perfectly hung that it can be opened with one finger when the adjustment has been made, always interests.

A great many boxes have been rented, for while the charge is small the security and privacy are absolute. Customers who do business at other banks have in a number of instances rented boxes and still others who have been storing valuable papers in vaults in larger cities have brought them back to Jacksonville, where they will be constantly accessible. The person who rents a box is given a key thereto and whenever he applies to the vault department he is admitted by a clerk or other attendant who accompanies him inside the vault. A box cannot be opened until the clerk has used the master key at the same time that the customer inserts his. Then the customer takes his box of papers to a companion booth nearby which locks automatically as he closes the door. There in perfect privacy he can examine papers or attend to any other business. The safety deposit department is an important factor in the very extensive business of the Ayers National.

ON VARIED THEMES.

It will not be very long now before Jacksonville will vote upon the question of granting franchises to the Jacksonville Street Railway and the Jacksonville Light company. When the street railway franchise was defeated last year this defeat was due in part to the fact that one-man cars were provided for and partly because the public was opposed to granting a street railway franchise and leaving the gas and electric franchises in abeyance.

As a matter of fact the gas and electric franchises are of more importance to the city than the street railway franchise. It is probably true that the street railway figured by itself does not pay a good dividend on the money invested. But its a different matter with reference to the gas and electric business of the company and nobody has been found who gives evidence that the gas and electric business is not profitable.

When the gas and electric franchises are discussed in the council and afterward by the people at large, there will no doubt be a great deal of talk about the prices to be charged for gas and electricity. The price is important but as a matter of fact the people are more interested in the quality of the gas and the electricity they are furnished than in the price. Poor gas at a few cents less per thousand feet is dearer than better gas at a higher price.

The gas franchise granted should have complete, specific and ample provisions made therein for testing the gas furnished by the company that the city may have the means of showing each day whether or not the company is furnishing gas of the right quality and of the right pressure. There are standard provisions of this character outlined by experts who have made a study of the question of public utilities. Such provisions it is understood are in the franchise ordinance under consideration. At present the Jacksonville Light company is furnishing in Jacksonville a very poor quality of gas. From some cause or other many consumers are dissatisfied with the gas and the pressure. Between 5 and 7:30 o'clock p. m. in many residences the gas flickers and varies so in pressure that it is hardly usable.

The franchise should also contain provisions as to the electric current, provisions designed to protect consumers and the people generally from any danger to life. These provisions should also include the proper technical requirements as to quality and service. Only recently the local company turned a voltage of 120 or more upon a circuit designed for 110 volts and the result was that many lamps were burned out. No doubt the company did not exceed the proper voltage with any intent, but with the right kind of a franchise in effect such violations of proper service would not be likely to occur.

Criticism of the Jacksonville fire department continues. At the fire at Robertson property Sunday afternoon there were a good many on-lookers who found fault because of seeming lack of organization among the firemen. It must be said, however, that the men made a quick response to the alarm and their conduct of the fire was such as to meet the approval of Mrs. Robertson. It is an easy matter too for on-lookers to find fault and they did freely. Many of the on-lookers believed that the right way to get at the fire was from the inside rather than by putting on so much water from the outside, as the men stood upon the ground. It did not seem to the on-lookers either that the hose should break badly four times at one fire and thus cause a great deal of delay. If the hose is of poor quality the department should have new hose. If the breaks came because the water was turned off at the nozzle while the engine was still working then there should be some different rules for hosemen. Everybody in Jacksonville is interested in the fire department and nobody has it "in" for the fire chief or his men, but the desire for increased efficiency is widespread.

BEYOND THE TOMB.

Victor Hugo's Views on the Immortality of the Soul.

Victor Hugo's opinion on the question of life beyond the grave was a remarkable one. The great Frenchman was firmly convinced that he would meet all his friends in a future world. He was equally sure that he had always existed from the antediluvian times, when the Creator placed him on earth. He believed that he would exist forever, inasmuch as he felt in his soul thousands of hymns, dramas and poems that had never found expression.

When the atheists would say to him, "The proof that you will not exist in the future is that you did not exist in the past," Hugo would answer:

"Who told you I did not exist in the past centuries? You will say that is the legend of the ages. The poet has written, 'Life is a fairy tale twice written.' He might have said a thousand times written. You do not believe in the doctrine of surviving personalities for the reason that you do not recollect your anterior existence. But how can the recollection of vanished ages remain imprinted on your memory when you do not remember a thousand and one scenes and events of your present life? Since 1802 there have been ten Victor Hugos in me. Do you think that I can recall all their actions and all their thoughts?"

"The tomb is dark, and when I shall have passed the tomb to emerge into light once more all these Victor Hugos will be almost wholly strangers to me, but it will always be the same soul."

LARGE AUDIENCES ARE ATTENDING REVIVAL NIGHTLY

Thirty-one Accessions to Grace Church Sunday—Rev. J. W. Miller's Prelude Tonight is "On the Toboggan, City Administration."

"A Tragedy, the Doctor's Story" was the prelude given by Rev. J. W. Miller at the Grace church revival Monday evening, the services being largely attended. The pastor took up the story of a girl who had been raised in the city, within the shadow of the colleges and church that stood for the highest and noblest in life, and died in despair. He told the audience that each year statistics showed that 60,000 girls and women were sacrificed yearly to lust and drink. He pictured the long procession, with the women walking in pairs, six feet apart and consuming the entire length of a long summer day in passing a single point, marching unconcerned, unprepared for eternity. In strong and earnest language the pastor portrayed the awful power of sin and he exhorted parents to look well for the care of their children.

For the regular sermon the pastor preached from the text, Heb. 2-3, "How shall we escape, if we neglect so great a salvation." The speaker showed how great was the plan of salvation and how great must have been the task to bring it to completion, a plan that delivers men and women now from the power of evil and saves them for an eternity; great is the joy and happiness it brings to mankind. The mystery of it all is how men will neglect it. The man who rejects the plan of salvation is by far the less sinner, than the man who believes it but neglects it. Rev. Mr. Miller emphasized the disastrous results of constantly refusing the plan, pointing out how people drift back in their lives and their hearts grow hardened. Men live in the hope that in the closing days of life they will find time to do the work of a life-time. The pastor related the story of the company of men and women who were attending a theatre in Vienna when fire broke out. They saw a sign "Emergency Door" so all hastened toward it. The door had been unopened for so long and the people were unable to turn the locks so they perished. There is no "Emergency Door" at the end of life when that time comes the hand is too feeble to turn the door and exit is impossible. How foolish are men and women to trust to the element of chance.

There was a splendid audience last night and the music lead by the pastor was inspiring. Miss Lena Hooper sang very feelingly a solo, "No Burdens Yonder."

Thirty-One Accessions Sunday. The services Sunday were largely attended and full of inspiration. During the morning service there were thirty-one accessions to the church. "A Guest at the Banquet" proved a setting for a heart searching sermon from the pastor at the evening service.

two others a fall into a crevasse might account for it, but we must fall back on starvation as the explanation of death of any large numbers.

Amundsen Expresses Grief. Madison, Vt., Feb. 10.—Captain Raoul Amundsen forgot his own distinction as discoverer of the South Pole tonight by expressing profound grief over the tragic fate of Captain Robert F. Scott in an article. Captain Amundsen was loathe to believe the news especially as to the cause of the deaths.

"I would gladly forgo any honor or any amount of money if thereby I could have saved Captain Scott from his terrible death," and the Norwegian explorer at his hotel tonight.

Cable despatches from London were received by the explorer to day. They repeated the news that the Scott party had perished, leaving proof of Amundsen's discovery of the south pole. Captain Amundsen was extremely cautious in his comments on the reported tragedy. All afternoon he maintained a reserve when inquirers touched upon the subject and this was not lessened tonight. He said all interviewers that until he had received absolutely authentic information he would withhold a statement on the subject.

"I am shocked at the news of Captain Scott's terrible end and that of his brave men," said Amundsen. "but, until more definite advice is received I do not feel able to discuss it. I expect to get this information later."

Several telegrams from London and throughout this country asking for comment on the Scott expedition and its fate have not been answered, Captain Amundsen awaiting more positive news.

Captain Amundsen to day commented on the existence of crevasses and sudden mountain streams that sweep around the anarctic crags and said it was possible Scott was caught in these. Amundsen's party was often greatly alarmed by these sudden changes in the elements particularly when crossing the "Devil's Bend" which was a great sheet of ice that sounded hollow under the feet. Amundsen sent men ahead to test this ice. Captain Amundsen was extremely careful in making his way through the southern ice fields. When the temperature fell rapidly, Amundsen halted his party and made camp until weather moderated. To day's dispatches indicated that Scott's party rushed on when adverse weather overtook the explorers. Captain Amundsen's secretary, Mr. Gracie, said Scott was weighed with more baggage than the munden trip.

DISCRIMINATING LADIES.

Enjoy Using Herpelide on Account of Its Distinctiveness.

The ladies who have used Newbro's Herpelide speak of it in the highest terms. For its quick effect in cleansing the scalp of dandruff and also for its excellence as a general hair-dressing. It makes the scalp feel fresh and it allays that itching which dandruff will cause. Newbro's Herpelide effectively cures dandruff, as it destroys the germ that causes it. The same germ causes hair to fall out, and later baldness; in killing it, Herpelide stops falling hair and prevents baldness. It is also an ideal hair dressing for it lends an aristocratic charm to the hair that is quite distinctive. Sold by leading druggists. Send for sample to The Herpelide Co., Detroit, Mich.

GIRL MAKES BIG MONEY

Kansas City Stenographer Gets $15,000 A Year—Has Wonderful Memory and Knowledge of Law.

Kansas City Star: On the glass door of an office on the twelfth floor of the Commerce building is this sign:

A. Z. Cruise,
 Stenographer and Notary Public.

It is the name of a business woman, Miss A. Z. Cruise, one among the few in Kansas City who earn $15,000 a year.

Miss Cruise laid her work aside this morning and started on a trip around the world for pleasure. She was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Esther Darnall, singer. Miss Cruise has her own home at 3678 Jefferson street filled with antiques collected from the countries of the world; she has her motorcar and a chauffeur. Last summer she toured New England in her car and spent a part of the time at her cottage on the seashore. The summer before she toured Colorado in her car. She has been abroad several times, when she indulged her hobby for antiques.

Stenographer, But Specialist.
 She is to sail for Japan from San Francisco on the steamer Cleveland, February 6, and expects to return to this country early next summer. But the modest sign on Miss Cruise's office door does not tell the whole story. It might seem strange that a stenographer could live in her own home, have a cottage at the seashore, have her own motor car and chauffeur and go on a tour of the world. If she chose she might add to the sign:

A Lawyer's Lawyer.
 Expert Abstractor of Intricate and Technical Testimony; Mistakes in Testimony Not Known Here; Special Commissioner for the Federal Court.

For that is the reason of Miss Cruise's big earning capacity. She never has been admitted to the bar, but that is only a matter of form. She never applied. Her office is next door to that of Frank Hagerman, counsel in the west for railroads, express companies, Standard Oil and many big corporations that have intricate and difficult litigation in the supreme and appellate courts of the states and United States.

Fee In One Case, $16,000.
 The taking of the testimony in this litigation naturally falls to Miss Cruise because of her ability to understand it and keep it straight in the record. The courts and the lawyers have come to realize that her accuracy in the labyrinth of intricacies is due to a peculiar and almost abnormal capacity of her brain. She keeps tab on both counsel and court and does not hesitate to interrupt when the record is threatened with a mistake.

When she takes testimony as a special commissioner of the federal court her remuneration is $10 a day and that applies, be she in court a minute or several hours. And that is not all. Her services are employed only in suits where the litigants on both sides are rich. Sometimes there are several parties to the suit, the counsel for each demanding a transcript of the testimony. For the original she gets sixty cents a page, or twenty cents for one hundred pages. For the carbon copies she gets twenty cents a page. So if she takes the testimony in a suit where there are six different litigants, she receives $1.60 for each page she transcribes. And in some of the big suits the testimony aggregates as many as ten thousand pages. In a suit of that length with six separate litigants her fee is $16,000.

An Infallible Memory.
 Miss Cruise has an infallible memory for citations of court decisions, their volume and page numbers. A lawyer may cite a decision and its page and volume number one day in the trial of a suit. Two days afterwards he may attempt to cite it again. If he makes a mistake she corrects him from memory, although she may have written thousands of words of testimony in the meantime. The attorneys have learned not to question the accuracy of her memory.

Her experience in taking testimony and her grasp of its significance have equipped her to make abstracts of it. A record of ten thousand pages takes a long time and much patience for a lawyer to review. Miss Cruise is often employed to abstract it and pick out what and throw away the chaff, submitting to her client in abbreviated form the important and material part of the testimony. For this service she receives high remuneration.

Old Age.

Old age as it comes in the orderly process of nature is a beautiful and majestic thing. It stands for experience, knowledge, wisdom, a counsel. That is old age as it should be, but old age as it often is means poor digestion, torpid bowels, a sluggish liver and a general feeling of ill health, despondency and misery. This in almost every instance is wholly unnecessary. One of Chamberlain's Tablets taken immediately after supper will improve the digestion, tone up the liver and regulate the bowels. That feeling of despondency will give way to one of hope and good cheer. For sale by all dealers.

PLANNING WELL BALANCED MEALS.

One of the most vexing questions which the housekeeper encounters will be discussed at the Public Library Tuesday afternoon, February 11 at 2:30 o'clock. She will also be glad to answer such questions as may be troubling those who wish to plan their meals in such a way as to receive the best results with the least expenditure of time and money.

There is no section in the public library which is more frequently visited than that which contains the books useful to housekeepers, and this is especially true of the shelves containing the cook books. Below is given a list of some of the most readable as well as authoritative books:

 Haig—Diet and food. 1904. (Considered in relation to strength and power of endurance, training and athletics.)
 Hogan—Children's diet in home and school. (Has classified recipes and menus. Endorsed by physicians but not so fine as the following title.)
 Holt—Care and feeding of children. 1907. Helpful to untrained nurses and mothers. A standard work of high authority and value. Considered the best work of its kind by most physicians.)
 Jordan—Principles of human nutrition. 1912. A comprehensive work covering about the same ground as Sherman but presenting subject from a different view point and in a much less technical manner. Contains excellent chapters on food economics, regulation of life and nutrition of the child. Suited to the reader with very slight knowledge of science.
 Richards—First lessons in food and diet. 1911. A small book. Very elementary but helpful and suggestive.
 Richards—Cost of food. 1908. Very practical for the uninformed as well as for those having a knowledge of the scientific principles of diet. Rather too old to be accepted without reservation, since the cost of living has increased materially after its publication.)

Thompson—Diet in relation to age and activity. 1902. Well deserves its established popularity. Instructions for attaining comfortable longevity, adapted to all intelligent people.

Sherman—Chemistry of food and nutrition. 1912. (Written for the student but the intelligent reader will be able to get much authoritative information from it.)

Wiley—Foods and their adulteration. 1907. Complete and detailed information collected by Dr. Wiley formerly of the U. S. Bureau of Chemistry.

NO REASON FOR IT

When Jacksonville Citizens Show a Way.

There can be no reason why any reader of this who suffers the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the pains and dangers of kidney ills will fail to heed the words of a neighbor who has found relief. Read what a Jacksonville citizen says:

Mrs. Dora E. Price, Plum street, Jacksonville, Ill., says: "A few months ago I was attacked by pain across the small of my back and some time after an attack of la grippe affected my kidneys. The kidney secretions became unnatural, causing me much annoyance. I had often heard about Doan's Kidney Pills and resolving to try them, I procured a supply at Armstrong's Drug Store. Soon after I began using them the pain disappeared and my kidneys were restored to a normal condition. I willingly allow my name to be used in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

NO JUDGES FOR MOOSE PARTY IN SPRINGFIELD.

The Progressive party has not demanded recognition in the appointment of judges and clerks of election and for this reason only the Republican and Democratic parties will be represented in the list of election officers which will be announced by the Springfield city election commission early this week.

There was some doubt whether or not the Progressive had a right under the law to demand recognition. It all depended upon whether the court decided the presidential or gubernatorial vote should be taken as a criterion. The Progressives ran second in the presidential contest, but third in the gubernatorial vote. Consequently, in one case they would be considered the second, or minority party, and in the other the Republicans would hold that position.

In Chicago and some other cities under the election commission law Progressives have demanded recognition and are being given places. It has added greatly to the work of the election commissions.

It is a dark colored granular meal, made from meat residues, and it supplies the protein and phosphates necessary for compounding a balanced ration in most economical and palatable form.

It contains phosphates in proper proportion to insure strength of bone and frame work. In the corn belt bone development is a matter of serious consideration.

It is not a substitute for corn, but a small quantity fed in connection with corn or other grains gives a balanced ration.

It is the most economical source of digestible protein known, containing twice as much protein as oil meal and five times as much as maddings, shorts, shipstuffs, or alfalfa meal.

TANKAGE recommended by all leading experiment stations.

It is packed in one-hundred-pound burlap sack, plainly marked "SURE FATTEN HOG FOOD," analysis as above.

What "Sure Fatten Hog Food"

Tankage Does.

It develops bone and muscle in young pigs and makes them grow. It matures a hog for market in two and three months quicker than corn alone, thereby, saving one third of the feed bill, one third of the labor, one third of the risk, increasing profits one third.

It grows better proportioned hogs, more meat, a d more fat, hence market-topper hogs. SURE FATTEN HOG FOOD TANKAGE fed hogs ship well with small shrink.

While in nowise a medicine, it so fortifies and strengthens the system against attacks of disease germs that SURE FATTEN HOG FOOD TANKAGE fed hogs are universally healthy hogs.

PRIZE RING DINNER CAUSES WIDESPREAD COMMENT

St. Louis Republic Devoted Whole Page to Story of Miss Claudia Lassell's Daring Entertainment.

The St. Louis Republic devoted a page printed in colors Sunday to the story of the dinner-prize fight given recently by Miss Claudia Lassell Hockenbush, which is said to have astounded society all over Europe. The Republic article is accompanied by illustrations done in colors, showing a prize ring in a beautiful parlor, surrounded by men and women in evening dress. In part the article is as follows:

London is comparing this society boxing affair to the gladiatorial combats of ancient Rome, where the vestal virgins leaned over the amphitheater and urged the combatants on to death or glory. It is recorded that the ancient women of Rome were inclined to turn their thumbs downward, signifying death to the vanquished. The sight of gory features seems to have awakened little pity in the breasts of the exquisitely gownned women, who watched the ball-room boxing matches.

When the song sounded at the close of the last round of the heavy-weight match, the little group, by this time augmented by the presence of a score of servants in the galleries, broke into wild cheering. The boxers were introduced to the guests and the blaze group voted the whole show a splendid success.

Now all of fashionable North London is planning to duplicate the entertainment during the present season. Most of the women spectators at the Lassell affair had never seen a boxing match before. They are wildly enthusiastic over its possibilities as a new form of excitement.

Miss Lassell is known in England as a semi-professional actress of more than ordinary ability. She was born in Jacksonville, Ill. She lives in North London, at Lassell-Hockenbush, and is universally acclaimed as one of the most popular of the hostesses of that city.

Miss Lassell has had little use for thimble American in later years. She has lived in London since the time when she produced "Lady Tatters" and "The Sweet Girl," rather ambitious plays for a semi-professional actress managing herself.

London made her acquaintance when she took a leading part in "Peggy Macree" a few years ago. This production had a long run in London and later toured the Provinces.

Having established her right to be called a professional actress of considerable ability, Miss Lassell came back to London and settled down to create a salon of a peculiar type. Later she dined and entertained her guests in a room which she had become famous among the faster London set.

She is apparently a very wealthy woman and her dinners have something about them that lifts them out of the realm of commonplace affairs. Her pugilistic dinner is accounted for and away the most daring thing she has ever done in England, and the continent is talking of the irrepressible Claudia.

The ring set up in her ballroom is said to have been a most complete affair. It was a regular 24-foot ring, roped and braced by posts of strength and solidity.

Conductor S. L. Miller, Norfolk, Neb., on Bonesteel Division of C. & N. W. Ry. Co., recommends Foley Kidney Pills and says: "I have used Foley Kidney Pills with very satisfactory results and endorse their use for any one afflicted with kidney trouble. They are all right." City Drug Store—J. A. Obermeyer.

BUSINESS CHANGE.

As will be noted elsewhere in this issue, the firm of Brook & Breckon, clothiers has been dissolved by mutual agreement and Mr. Brook has retired to take up other work. An interest in the business has been purchased by Edwin A. Jenkinson and the name of the new firm is Breckon & Jenkinson. For many years now Mr. Breckon has been a well known resident of Jacksonville and for a long period his name has been prominently associated with Jacksonville business. More recently he has been identified with the clothing line and has had valuable experience therein. Mr. Jenkinson knows the business thoroughly having been engaged in it since a young man. He began his clothing work in the well known Rawlings store and has been in the work continuously since that time. There is every reason to expect that the new firm will do a constantly increasing business in clothing and furnishings for boys and men and it is their intention to keep constantly on hand the very best and most comprehensive stocks.

GAVE VIOLIN PROGRAM.

Mr. F. G. DeArnould, Assisted by the Misses Grace and Minnie Hoffman gave a very enjoyable violin recital Sunday afternoon at his studio on North Church street. Though only a recent arrival in Jacksonville Mr. DeArnould is already becoming known as a musician and composer of the first merit. He has studied under Edouard Deru and Ysaye of Brussels, Belgium. The program which was witnessed by a select company of friends, consisted both of selections from the old masters and pieces of Mr. DeArnould's own composition. Two of these which were especially appreciated were "The Call of the Flowers," and "The Witch's Dream." Miss Grace Hoffman, in her usual excellent manner rendered on the piano a symphony poem, "Elegia," which has been played by the Damrosch symphony orchestra and the Antwerpen symphony orchestra. The "Air de Ballet," is another one of Mr. DeArnould's compositions that is being played by Damrosch in his symphony orchestra. Francis MacMillan is another staunch supporter of Mr. DeArnould's works.

This was the program given:

Concert in D Minor, Bach, (Allegro), two violins and piano.

Souata in A Major, Handel, Andante, Allegro, Adagio, Allegro—DeArnould.

MADERO MEN IN REVOLT AGAIN STIR MEXICO

Palace Was Stormed Sunday and HundFeds Were Slain—Gen. Felix Diaz Released From Prison Took Command of Rebels.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 10.—Federal artillery troops in the city of Mexico mutinied at 5 o'clock Sunday morning and storming the military prison, released Gen. Felix Diaz, confined under military sentence of death for his part in the recent revolt at Vera Cruz; also Gen. Bernardo Reyes, held a prisoner for leading a revolt in the state of Nueva Leon a year ago.

Led by the two generals just released from prison, the mutineers, joined by hundreds of the mob, who had previous knowledge of the plot, stormed the National Palace, where President Madero led the loyal troops in person against the mob. Hot fighting followed and 150 persons were killed.

Gustavo Madero, brother of the president, known as the most hated man in Mexico because of his influence over the president was made a prisoner by the mutineers. Tonight President Madero sent telegrams to his garrison commanders throughout Mexico, confirming the uprising and declaring that "order has triumphed" and that Gen. Reyes was killed in the assault on the palace.

Besides the 150 persons known to have been killed many were wounded, one report saying 400. As much of the fighting took place in the streets many people were shot in their homes, where they had hidden in refuge.

Many of the police openly embraced the cause of the revolutionists and many of the soldiers in certain battalions that have ostensibly remained loyal have deserted to the rebels.

Gen. Reyes, ex-secretary of war, was shot through the head and killed in front of the National Palace.

Felix Diaz and his followers gained control of the city early in the afternoon. He took possession of the palace and captured the arsenal by assault. Only a few scattered companies of the city garrison maintained an appearance of loyalty to the administration.

After the troops took possession of the palace and nearly all the principal public buildings they began patrolling the streets.

After the street fighting, in which the government succeeded in regaining part control, President Madero led the loyal troops for a part of the time. Gen. Villarrara, loyalist, was killed in one of the conflicts.

According to a telegram received from President Madero by the commander at Juarez tonight, the mutineers were repulsed with heavy losses. Madero declared the government has the situation well in hand.

The revolt started in the interest of Gen. Geronimo Trevina, who recently resigned his command in the federal army. Francisco de la Barra is to be one of the cabinet members, and Gen. Felix Diaz, minister of war, and Gen. Samuel Garcia Guellera formerly aide on the staff of Gen. Porfirio Diaz is to be a cabinet officer.

Cuellar, at the head of federal troops, defeated Francisco I. Madero at Casas Grandes when Madero was a revolutionist. At that time Cuellar lost an arm.

The revolt is said to have the sanction of all rebel leaders, including Pascual Orozco, Jr., who is said to be ready to take the field again and begin his work by attacking Juarez.

The capture of Gustavo Madero has ended the rebels. They blame the activities of Gustavo Madero for the failure of the Madero regime. Gustavo has succeeded in getting large sums of money from the federal government for financial support; he is supposed to have furnished his brother's rebel army two years ago and has also been granted large concessions, the rebels charge which he is attempting to peddle to foreigners. Gustavo dictated the nomination of Jose Pino Suarez as vice-president to run with his brother when the revolutionists were clamoring for Dr. Francisco Vasquez Gomez.

When Burton Holmes recently gave his celebrated travelogue on "Panama" at Orchestra hall, Chicago, he was seriously interrupted by continual coughing of the audience. No one annoys willingly and if people with coughs, colds, hoarseness and tickling in throat would use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, they could quickly cure their coughs and colds and avoid this annoyance. City Drug Store—J. A. Obermeyer.

TELEGRAPH RATES CASE.
Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 10.—The final hearing in the telegraph rates case was begun before the railway commission today. The case is regarded as one of the most important that has ever come before the commission for adjudication. It originated more than two years ago in complaints filed by the Winnipeg board of trade alleging that the telegraph rates charged in the west were excessive. Later the scope of the case was broadened to take up the whole question of telegraph rates throughout Canada.

Mrs. S. S. S., Van Buren St., Kingston N. Y., (full name furnished on application), had such decided benefit from using Foley's Honey and Tar Compound that she shares her good fortune with others. She writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar Compound brought my voice back to me during a severe case of bronchitis and laryngitis. Oh, how many people I have recommended it to." City Drug Store—J. A. Obermeyer.

MRS. WILSON'S SECRETARY.

Wife of President Elect Selects Miss Hagner, Who Served Mrs. Roosevelt.

The announcement that Miss Isabella L. Hagner has been selected as social secretary by Mrs. Woodrow Wilson is of interest in Washington, where Miss Hagner had considerable prominence during the Roosevelt administration. She served in a similar capacity to Mrs. Roosevelt, whose personal friend she had been before the Roosevelts entered the White House.

Miss Hagner was prominently identified with the social life of the entire Roosevelt administration. She is the daughter of Dr. Charles E. Hagner and a niece of Justice Alexander B. Hagner of the supreme court of the District of Columbia. She has been identified with smart residential circles from the time she entered society. Since the close of the Roosevelt administration Miss Hagner has been a clerk in the state department.

What to Do With Apples.

Belmont baked apples are made in the following way: Wipe selected red apples and make two circular parallel cuts through the skin of each, leaving a three-fourths of an inch band around the apple midway between stem and blossom ends. Put in baking dish, sprinkle generously with sugar and add boiling water to cover bottom of pan. Bake in a hot oven until the apples are soft, basting with sirup in pan.

To make Dutch apple cakes, says the Woman's Home Companion, mix one cupful of scalded milk, one-third cupful of butter, one-third cupful of sugar and one-third teaspoonful of salt. When lukewarm add one yeast cake broken in small pieces, two unbeaten eggs and bread flour (once sifted) to make a soft dough. Cover and let rise until mixture has nearly doubled its bulk. Cut down, beat thoroughly, cover and again let rise. But down, spread evenly in a buttered dripping pan and brush over with melted butter. Wipe, pare, cut in eighths and remove cores from five sour apples. Press sharp edges of apple sections into the dough in parallel rows, lengthwise of pan. Mix one-fourth cupful of sugar and one-half teaspoonful of cinnamon and sprinkle over dough. Their sprinkle with two tablespoonfuls of currants. Cover, again let rise until light and bake thirty minutes.

Hideous Hats.
Why should the Irish caribeen, one of the most hideous of headdresses, be adopted by beauty as one of fashion's favorites? It has a strange, unfinished, rough-jolly kind of expression that asserts very badly with a poetic face. There is no galsaying that sometimes it is a very becoming headgear, but nothing can make up for its want of dignity. Many girls seem to study the best way to look utterly unkempt. It is a mistake.

SLAVES OF THE DESERT.

A Lashing Taken With Gratitude by the Emir's Servants.

Abdel-Rahman wore a heavy scowl that boded ill for some one, and his fingers caressed his rawhide koorbag as he watched the camels being laden. When all was ready to start he called out four names, and four dejected-looking Arabs answered shamefacedly to the summons.

The Emir spoke to them dispassionately, as one might speak to one's dog, and then tossing his koorbag to the nearest of the four camels, he bade him lay on a dozen of the best, while he watched and criticised each stroke with grim earnestness.

It was not a pleasant sight to watch, and I thought it policy to turn aside, but the rest of the caravan thoroughly enjoyed the exhibition and greeted each well laid blow with approval.

When the punishment was completed each of the camels in turn came forward and kissed the Emir's feet, thanking him for his mercy and calling Allah to witness that they were his dogs to do with as he wished.

From their subsequent conduct there no reason to believe that they did not mean every word they said, though at the time I was skeptical. It is not every day that one learns such an object lesson in humility and feudal service.—Wide World Magazine.

INSPIRED AUTHORS.

Ideas Come to Them, It Would Seem, In Spite of Themselves.

Bernard Shaw has stated more than once that he is "inspired." "I am pushed," he says, "by a natural need, to set to work to write down conversations that come into my mind unaccountably. At first I hardly know the speakers and cannot find names for them. Then they become more and more familiar, and I learn their names. Finally I come to know them very well and discover what it is they are driving at and why it is they have said and done the things I have been moved to set down."

Other writers and painters, too, have described their processes in a similar way. William Blake was positive and emphatic in describing himself as a mere amanuensis, writing down the words that were audibly spoken to him, and he painted in the same way from a model set before his eyes and visible to him alone. Rodin, the French sculptor, gave his assistant to the same idea of models visible to the eye of the artist. Dickens said that his characters were actually visible and audible to him, and it will be remembered that "Kubla Khan" was dictated to Coleridge while he slept.—London Spectator.

The Curious Guanaco.

"Amnra!" guanaco whispered one, as they crunched low in the boat. "Kili!" he pointed to the rifle beside me in the stern sheets. The golden brown of the white breasted, deer-like animal stood out a little note of color, complementing strongly against the verdant green of the dark, wet forest side, but well out of range. I had seen the Indian guanaco skin caps (cloaks) sold by the fur dealers of Punta Arenas, but this was my first glimpse of the animal itself, many thousands of which I saw later during my expeditions through Tierra del Fuego and Patagonia. "You are a queer animal, indeed," apostrophized an Argentine lieutenant as he and Captain Musters once viewed a solitary guanaco. "You have the neck of a horse, the wool of a sheep, the neck of a camel, the foot of a deer, and the swiftness of the devil." Yet without a graceful animal and at a distance not unlike red deer, though larger.—Outing.

Jarred Her.

A Chicago woman was traveling in the orient. On a trip through a desert she was carried by four stalwart blacks in a chair suspended on poles. The natives started out with great cheer, but as the journey progressed and the sun beat down upon them they began to chant a prayer to Allah. It was melodious, though a bit mournful. His constant repetition was soothing, and the lady dozed. On awakening the prayer, grown more mournful, almost despairing, was still being intoned. Turning to her interpreter she asked the meaning of the mysterious words. The interpreter pretended not to hear, but being pressed for an answer finally bowed low and said:

"Madam, since you insist, they pray that the great Allah may make you less fat."—Chicago Tribune.

Sacrifice!

There was only one piece of pudding for dinner, and Mrs. Jones divided it between her children, Ned and Grace. Ned looked first at his piece and then at his mother's empty plate. "Mother," he said, "I don't think I can eat my pudding while you haven't any." "Why, Ned," said the mother, much pleased, "how unselfish you are, dear! But, you see, my box, there is no more pudding." "I know that, mother. You take Grace's!"—London Mail.

One Exception.

"Where there's a winner there's always a loser."
"Not always."
"Well, name an instance to the contrary."
"When you're playing cards with your girl for kisses."

Unfeeling.

Mrs. Benham: I'm afraid the doctor's bill is too high. Benham: But he saved my life. Mrs. Benham: That's what I'm figuring on.—New York Times.

There is no time so miserable but a man may be true.—Shakespeare.

IN FLORIDA.

Mount Dora, Fla., Feb. 6, 1913. Journal.

We are located once more, this time at Mount Dora, Lake county, Florida. A lovely little town among the yellow pines and live oaks, on the eastern shore of a beautiful lake of the same name.

We are busy setting up house-keeping but take time to let our friends know where to reach us. After today we will be ready to receive any of our friends, or letters or cards, also the Journal. House-keeping is slow without the Jacksonville papers. Will write full particulars of this locality after looking around.

"FRECKLES" WAS WORTH THE MONEY.

When "Freckles" was first advertised for the Sedalia theatre amusement lovers perked up and took notice. And when, a week ago, word was passed from some unknown and unsought source that the company was a cheap one, there was disappointment. Last night the house was only half filled, but those who were there were more than satisfied. Those who have heard Gene Stratton Porter's novel of the name know what it is. There was not a bad actor in the eight, and here hasn't been a professional on the Sedalia stage in months that could sing as well as John Roberts, who takes the part of "Freckles." Edith Mendonza, who plays "Angel," is not only pretty—she is bewitching, and she knows how to act. Alpheus Lincoln, who is the timber thief and bad man of the play, could scarcely be improved on—Sedalia (Mo.) Journal.

"Freckles" comes to the Grand this afternoon and night.

THOMAS A. EDISON IS 66.

West Orange, N. J., Feb. 10.—Thomas A. Edison, the famous inventor, will be 66 years old tomorrow, having been born Feb. 11, 1847. No special plans have been made for the celebration of the anniversary and the inventor will probably observe the day by working as hard as usual in his laboratory on Valley road.

F. E. Walling, a farmer living near Yukon, Mo., strongly recommends Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and says: "I have been advised by my family doctor to use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for my children when there was a cough medicine needed. It always gives the best of satisfaction and I recommend it to others." City Drug Store—J. A. Obermeyer.

POSTAL CARD SHOWER.

Mrs. Joseph Brown who resides east of the city had a birthday last Sunday. Many of her friends were aware that the day was her birthday and she was kindly remembered by a large number of post cards, many of them coming quite a distance. It is needless to say that Mrs. Brown read with interest the many good wishes of all.

Eats Freely but Has no Dyspepsia

Makes a Mild Laxative With Good
Pepsin and Insures Comfort and Pleasure.

Mrs. Oliver Young.

Fortunate is the one who can eat "anything" without suffering the tortures of dyspepsia, but as few are so fortunate care should be taken in the matter of diet. Eating slowly, masticating the food thoroughly and taking a short walk after the heavy meal of the day will do much towards assisting digestion. Any grown-up person ought to know the peculiar foods that do not agree, and these should be avoided.

When these common-sense aids fail, the next thing to do is to take a mild digestive tonic with laxative properties, and there is none better than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains the greatest of all aids to digestion, good pepsin. It has other ingredients that act mildly on the bowels, which together form a combination for the relief of dyspepsia or indigestion that is unsurpassed.

Its action is to tone and strengthen the stomach and bowel muscles so that they can again do their work naturally without outside aid, and when that happy moment comes all medicine can be dispensed with. It is the best remedy obtainable for any disorder of the stomach, liver and bowels, for dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness, headache, drowsiness after eating, gas on the stomach, etc. Thousands of users will testify to this, among them Mrs. Oliver Young, Merrill, Wis. She says: "After many years suffering from indigestion I have obtained what I believe to be permanent relief by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. I feel 10 years younger, my work seems easy, my breath is no longer bad and I eat what I want without distress."

Syrup Pepsin is sure in its results, and a vast improvement over chewing or swallowing tablets and pills, or taking cathartics, salts, etc., all of which are harsh and nauseous and at best do but temporary good. You can obtain Syrup Pepsin at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington street, Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

WILL DECLARE WILSON AND MARSHALL ELECTED

Dignified Ceremonial Will Take Place in House of Representatives.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, and Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana, will be duly and officially declared elected president and vice president, respectively, of the United States next Wednesday in the hall of the house of representatives. The senate and the house will convene at 1 o'clock that afternoon in joint session and the representatives of each body will count the electoral votes of the senators which will be delivered to them by the president pro tempore of the senate.

The event will be marked throughout by dignified simplicity, and it will be, as usual, one of the most ceremonial in the political life of this country. The galleries of the house will be occupied by members of the diplomatic corps, prominent government officials and their wives and members of the families of the senators and representatives.

The senate and the house will assemble as usual. After being called to order by their respective presiding officers and listening to the usual prayers by their chaplains the senate will proceed to the hall of the house. Shortly before 1 o'clock the president pro tempore of the senate will leave his chair and will proceed to the east door, preparatory to leading the procession of senators to the south wing of the capitol. He will be accompanied by the secretary of the senate and a squad of capitol police will be in waiting as an escort.

The procession will be formed with the president pro tempore of the senate at the head and closely followed by the assistant doorkeepers of the senate, carrying two boxes containing the electoral votes, previously received by the presiding officer from the special messengers of the different states. The members of the senate will bring up the rear. The procession will move slowly through the capitol building past the old senate chamber, now occupied by the supreme court of the United States, across the rotunda, with its towering expanse of dome, and through statuary hall, where marble effigies of men the several states have honored stand as gentlemen for all time.

Speaker Clark will be informed of the coming of the senators and representatives occupying seats on his right hand will vacate them in order to make room for the four score or more senators. The president pro tempore of the senate, upon his arrival in the house of representatives, will take a seat at the right of the speaker, and will be presented with the gavel. He will then unlock the wooden boxes, and announcing the purpose of the gathering, will open the packages in alphabetical order, handing the certificates to the four tellers.

When the counting has been concluded showing that Wilson and Marshall have received 435 votes, Roosevelt and Johnson 88 votes and William H. Taft 8 votes, the presiding officer will inquire whether any one desires to file a protest against the result as announced and in the absence of such protest he will declare the successful candidates duly elected.

As soon as this simple function has been performed the senate will return to its chamber and both bodies will resume the ordinary work of legislation.

Adopted after a long and bitter dispute in the famous constitutional convention of 1787 in Philadelphia, the electoral college system has become a sort of fifth wheel, a useless appendix in fact, owing to a radical change in the theory of government in the United States. At the same time it is likely to be permitted to survive for many years to come, unless it should again become the center of momentous disagreements such as the Hayes-Tilden controversy of 1876.

The electoral college this year is going to be 48 members bigger than the college which elected Mr. Taft president in 1908. The increase is the result of the reapportionment made by congressional action in 1911 which brings a total of 48 more electoral votes to the college than formerly composed this body.

IMPIMPY? WELL, DON'T BE!

People Notice It. Drive Them Off Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pimples will vanish after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Nothing ever cleansed the blood, the bowels and the liver like Olive Tablets.

Olive Tablets are the only successful substitute for calomel—they oil the bowels; there's never any sickness or pain after taking them.

Olive Tablets do all that calomel does and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with "a dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are made of pure vegetable compounds mixed with olive oil.

Dr. Edwards spent several years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

Try them. Take one nightly for a week. Then look at yourself in the glass and see how you feel. 10c and 25c per box.

WOLVES IN RUSSIA

Daring Brutes That Attack Travelers on the Steppes.

EXCITING BATTLE AT NIGHT.

Perilous Plight of a Sleigh Party That Was Surrounded and Set Upon by a Pack of the Ferocious and Famished Animals—A Timely Rescue.

There are still wolves on the steppes of Russia and pretty ferocious ones at that, as appears from this story sent to a Swedish paper by one of its correspondents, who was traveling a winter or two ago through the wastes of what was formerly known as Lithuania.

It was a bright, frosty winter day. The snow was excellent, and the mail sleigh glided forward at great speed. A troika with three Poles in it followed behind. Toward sunset we emerged from the dark pine woods upon the steppe, which stretched away in front of us as far as the eye could reach.

Soon the stars made their appearance, and the moon rose. It was bitterly cold, and the snow crackled beneath the runners. The horses' breath rose in the air like thick smoke. The songs and shouts of the Poles died away, and profound silence reigned.

Suddenly one of the horses whinnied, then another, and a third shied violently, uttering that terrible cry of which the horse is capable only when in extreme fear. I could see by the light of the moon the shadow of an animal about the size of a dog flitting over the frozen surface of a marsh pool which lay some twenty paces from us on one side of the road.

No animal can travel more silently than a wolf when in search of prey, and none can attack so suddenly and unexpectedly. I was slowly raising my gun when a second wolf rose immediately in front of the horses with crest erect and green, phosphorescent eyes. At the same time points of light appeared all over the mere, and the howling of the beasts rang out.

A shot was fired. Revolver in hand, Lescek, one of the Poles, stood on the driving seat of the troika. Then from the mail sleigh I discharged both barrels of my gun, and a savage howl announced that they had taken effect. Two of the most daring of our assailants lay rolling in the snow.

The three Poles kept firing furiously, although the attack of the wolves was directed more against our sleigh, probably because it was drawn by double the number of horses. Our driver had no other weapon than his loaded whip, but with it he dealt tremendous blows.

The horses struggled madly and tried with all their strength to break the harness. At each shot from my gun the wolves scattered, only to collect again immediately and renew their attack on the horses. Suddenly there arose a wild yell behind us.

The three Poles were rolling in the snow by the side of their overturned sleigh. Lescek's badly driven horses had torn themselves loose from the troika in their terror, and were careering wildly over the snow covered steppe, pursued by some of the wolves. They were soon pulled down, and in the stillness of the night their death screams were terrible. The Poles wallowed about in the snow shouting, weeping and lamenting by turns.

Their situation was, indeed, sufficiently serious, for only Lescek had had enough presence of mind to hide himself beneath the sleigh, and the mail driver and I, surrounded by wolves, could give them no help. I looked upon them as doomed and felt sure that we should quickly share their fate.

Suddenly our pursuers disappeared, and although bleeding badly, the horses became calmer. The gleaming eyes of the wolves were seen only here and there out on the steppe. A shot rang out, then a volley, succeeded by yells of pain. A dozen dead wolves lay on the ground, and two huge beasts actually expired beneath the hoofs of the horses as our rescuers came up in their tinkling sleighs.

It was a landed proprietor with his servants whose solitary farm lay only a couple of versts away. None of us was dangerously wounded. The wolves had treated the Poles worst, for their clothes were nearly torn from their bodies. They were bitten, too, but not seriously.

The following morning our host, Herr Stanski, came across the skeletons of the three troikas scarcely half a verst from the scene of our struggle. The poor creatures were still bound together with the harness. What our own fate would have been were it not for our timely rescue, is not hard to imagine. The thought of it makes me shudder to this day.

Followed Mamma's Advice.

"Did he kiss you when you accepted him?"

"No; I wouldn't permit him."

"Why not?"

"Well, mamma told me that we ought to act differently toward each other after the engagement."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Generally the Way.

Crawford. Everybody wonders at your judgment. How do you manage it? Crawshaw.—Just a little system I worked out. Whenever I find I'd like to do anything I make up my mind it's something I'd better not do.—Puck.

Nothing is lost so surely as that which we dared not risk.

Blood Bath Knocks Rheumatism

Remarkable Effects of a Remedy That Actually Irrigates the Entire Blood Supply.

It sounds queer to take a blood bath but that is precisely the effect of a most remarkable remedy known as S. S. S. It has the peculiar action of soaking through the intestines directly into the blood. In five minutes its influence is at work in every artery, vein and tiny capillary. Every membrane, every organ of the body, every emunctory becomes in effect a filter to strain the blood of impurities. The stimulating properties of S. S. S. compel the skin, liver, bowels, kidneys, bladder to all work to the end of casting out every irritating, every pain-inflicting atom of poison; it dissolves by irrigation all accumulations in the joints, dissolves acid accretions, renders them neutral and scatters those peculiar formations in the nerve centers that cause such mystifying and often baffling rheumatic pains.

And best of all, this remarkable remedy is welcome to the weakest stomach, because it is a pure vegetable infusion, is taken naturally into your blood just as pure air is inhaled naturally into your lungs.

The great Swift Laboratory has spent millions of dollars in perfecting, producing and placing in the hands of the public this wonderful remedy. So give your blood a good bath with S. S. S., for it knocks the worst forms of rheumatism every time.

You can get it at any drug store at $1.00 a bottle. It is a standard remedy, recognized everywhere as the greatest blood specific ever discovered. If yours is a peculiar case and you desire expert advice, write to The Swift Specific Co., 127 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

VIGUS AND HARTNETT FREED OF TRAIN HOLD-UP CHARGE.

After 24 Hours July Exonerates Suspects Seized After C. & A. "Hummer" Robbery.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 10.—Elmer Vigus and John Hartnett yesterday were declared not guilty by a jury of holding up the Kansas City "Hummer" on the Chicago & Alton railroad, just south of Springfield, Dec. 22. The jury was out nearly twenty-four hours.

The hold-up of which Vigus and Hartnett were exonerated was staged as if for moving pictures. Two masked bandits covered the engineer and fireman with guns, ordered the baggage car separated from the train and one bandit held the engine crew under cover of two revolvers while the other bandit fired a series of charges of dynamite and nitroglycerin unsuccessfully at the baggage car express safe.

In the meantime a large force of policemen, deputies and newspaper men arrived on a switch engine, the headlight of which had been darkened. As the officers alighted from the engine they saw two men stealing away. The two disappeared, and after an all-night hunt the officers returned to the city empty-handed. Vigus and Hartnett later were taken as suspects.

WICKERSHAM MAKES AGREEMENT WITH S. P. AND U. P.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Attorney General Wickersham tonight announced that he had reached an agreement with the representatives of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads for the dissolution of the great Harriman merger, as decreed by the supreme court.

The Union Pacific agrees to sell its 1,266,500 shares of Southern Pacific stock to its own stockholders and those of the Southern Pacific in what the government regards as safe proportion. The Union Pacific will acquire the Central Pacific from the Southern Pacific, giving it an extension from Ogden to the Pacific coast.

The plan is essentially the same as that made public a few days ago by the two roads when they reached an agreement satisfactory to themselves, dissolving the merger. The attorney general, in his statement, goes into greater detail, however, and declares that competition will supplant monopoly under the agreed scheme of separation. He gives it his unqualified approval.

TINY BABY KEPT IN INCUBATOR.

Decatur Review: A great deal of interest is being taken in the case of the two and one-half pound baby that was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Elliott, 228 Harrison avenue. It came three months before its time. It was born Tuesday and from Tuesday until Thursday was kept alive by means of hot water bottles.

Thursday the baby was placed in a common chicken incubator. It was given nourishment with a medicine dropper. The baby, which is a girl, acts very much alive. It makes an attempt to cry, but the attempt coming from a two and one-half pound baby is rather feeble. The baby is in good condition. Every attempt is being made to keep the child alive and the physician in charge stated that the baby seemed very much alive and that there were hopes of keeping it so.

UNDERTONE OF STOCK MARKET WEAKENS

NUMBER OF REPRESENTATIVE ISSUES DROP A POINT.

Speculation Marked by Lassitude Which Has Prevailed For Past Few Days—Movement Consists of Slow Dragging Decline.

(By Associated Press.) New York, Feb. 10.—The undertone of the stock market weakened today and a number of representative issues, such as Harriman's Reading, St. Paul, Lehigh Valley and Smelting dropped back a point or more. Speculation was marked by the lassitude which has prevailed recently, and at no time was the list subjected to severe pressure. The day's movement consisted of a slow dragging decline.

The market situation was somewhat less favorable. Outbreak of the revolution in Mexico led to some selling by the trading element of stocks of corporations operating in the southern republic. National railways of Mexico first preferred broke over four points. Another development which favored the bears was the tightening of money rates. Call money climbed to four per cent, the highest since the first week of the year. While there was no notable change in time money rates the tone was appreciably firmer. Such a change in the money market was foreshadowed by the poor bank statement of Saturday, which showed that the surplus reserve had been virtually cut in two.

Continued selling of Southern Pacific forced it still lower, the price touching 103, the bottom figure since 1908. A few specialties showed strength. Canning rose over two points and Union Bag preferred 7 points.

WHEAT PRICES TAKE A DOWNWARD TURN

RAIN REPORTS FROM INDIA CAUSE DROP.

Fear of a Return of Activity on Part of Bulls in Coarse Grain Another Factor in Decline—Corn Finishes Lower.

(By Associated Press.) Chicago, Feb. 10.—Wheat prices took a downward turn today owing to rain reports from India and because of mild weather and of promised moisture in the United States winter crop belt. The close was easy at 1/4c to 1/2c net decline. Corn finished 1/4c to 1/2c off, oats unchanged to 1/4c lower, and provisions higher by 5 @ 7 1/2 to 22 1/2c.

Wheat gave way gradually a few fractions at a time. One reason for the reluctance was that dispatches from India said the rainfall though fairly general had been light.

Of Importance to Piano Buyers in This Vicinity

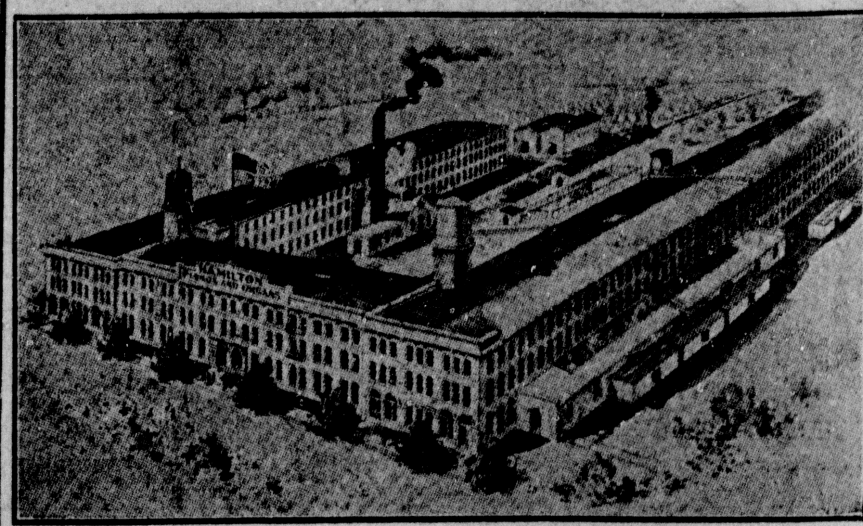

CHAS. A. SHEPPARD, Wholesale Distributor in Western Illinois for the famous Baldwin line of Pianos and Player-Pianos, with retail store at 314 East State St., Jacksonville, Ill., announces his One Price, No Commission system of selling Pianos, which means that salesman, music teacher, tuner, etc., commissions will be eliminated from this time on and the piano purchasers will not have to pay for excessive expenses and overhead expenses of the ordinary methods of marketing Pianos, at (sliding scale prices.)

The One Price Plan means that the lowest cash price will be placed on the pianos from the start and you will get exactly what you pay for and you will all be treated the same. This plan has been made possible only from the fact that I am handling the Baldwin product exclusively, both wholesale and retail, in this territory. For the first time in the history of Piano selling in Jacksonville you can buy a piano Safely whether you are an expert judge of workmanship and material or not. This means 1000 cents worth of Piano quality for every dollar you pay, whether a piano at $200 or one at $550. Come in and let us tell you more about the One Price, No Commission Plan.

Methods of Reform.
Through the efforts of the national association a number of affiliated state associations of piano merchants have been organized, and through them it is intended to carry on with the smaller piano merchants the various measures of reform in the hope that by publicity, education and by legislative enactment, the various measures for the public protection for which the N. A. of P. M. of A. has been so valiantly fighting, will eventually be accomplished.

Realizing that the old sliding scale method of pricing pianos—the get all you can and take as little as you have to plan of selling—is an aid to the dishonest piano dealer, the national association through its leaders, has been for some time waging a campaign for the adoption by its members of what is known as the one-price, plain-figure policy, which means the marking in plain figures of every piano in the merchant's store at the lowest selling price.

This plan has been adopted by the leading piano merchants of the country and those employing this method are warm in their praise of it. The manager of one house says:

The One-Price System.
"The one-price system reduces the opportunity of the fraudulent practices indulged in by houses employing multi-price methods to a minimum and establishes a bond of confidence between the buyer and the merchant which enables the buyer to buy and the merchant to sell without the necessity of the old time 'haggling,' and the purchaser is assured of being able to buy a piano at its rightful value."

LITTLE GLIMPSES OF FASCINATING BOOKS.
Angell's "Great Illusion," Dr. David Reid.
Croly's, "Promise of American Life," Miss Jennie Anderson.
Trollope's, "Barchester Towers," Miss Mary Johnston.
Antin's "The Promised Land," Reverend R. D. French.
People who care to hear about these books are invited to come to the public library at 7:30 o'clock on Tuesday evening, February 11th. "Now Impossible," says the author of the Great Illusion, is the sort of headline that is turning my hair gray. I have never said, of course, that war is impossible. On the contrary, given the prevailing condition of ignorance concerning the elementary economic facts of the world, war is even likely." The attack of Rear-Admiral Mahan upon this book has made it of more than ordinary interest.

Says Mr. Croly: "The idea which lies at the basis of 'The Promise of American Life" first occurred to me about ten years ago when reading Judge Robert Grant's novel "Unleavened Bread."

Jane Welsh Carlyle in one of her charming letters writes to a friend: "I hope you read that tale of Trollope's going on in the Fortnightly. It is charming, like all he writes; I quite weary for the next number of the magazine, for the sake of that one thing; the rest is wonderfully stupid. Who can ever forget Mr. Slope, Dr. Grantly, Bishop Proudle or Mrs. Proudle. One seems, after meeting Mrs.

Proudle, to have known her always. She pervades the whole Barchester series with her searching and persistent personality."
"To the author of this very remarkable autobiography, (The Promised Land) the United States is the fulfillment of a dream measured by the conditions she left behind her in the Russian village. Born in Polotsk, Russia, within the 'Pale of Settlement' where the Czar commanded the Jews to stay, she very early found the world divided into Jews and Gentiles. At first it was a shock to her, but she gradually grew familiar with the shackles imposed upon her. After her arrival in America it is an unusual story she tells, of rare friendships, and the unexpected rewards. While it reveals intimate phases of the immigrant problem, it is mainly important as a human document."

BIRTHDAY SOCIAL.
Birthday social of the Salem Ladies Aid society will be held at the residence of C. W. Cully, three miles east of the city, Wednesday evening, Feb. 12. Everybody invited.

THE DEAREST BABY

Mrs. Wilkes' Fondest Hopes Realized—Health, Happiness and Baby.

Plattsburg, Miss.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved very beneficial to me, for now I am well and have a sweet, healthy baby, and our home is happy."

"I was invalid from nervous prostration, indigestion and female troubles."

"I think I suffered every pain a woman could before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I think it saved this baby's life, as I lost my first one."

"My health has been very good ever since, and I praise your medicine to all my friends."—Mrs. VERNIA WILKES, R. F. D. No. 1, Plattsburg, Miss.

The darkest days of husband and wife are when they come to look forward to a childless and lonely old age.

Many a wife has found herself incapable of motherhood owing to some derangement of the feminine system, often curable by the proper remedies.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

ORGANIZE GOOD FELLOWSHIP CLUB

ASSOCIATED PRESS MEN ON ILLINOIS-IOWA CIRCUIT ARE MEMBERS.

Twenty-Four Attend Banquet in Springfield Sunday—W. H. DeShara of This City Chosen Vice-President.

At a banquet held in Springfield Sunday afternoon, Associated Press telegraph operators, wire chiefs and editors of circuit No. 77, perfected and organization to be known as "The Associated Press Good Fellowship club." Illinois and Iowa branch, elected officers, appointed a committee to draft by-laws and chose Peoria for the meeting place in July.

Twenty-four men from the two states gathered at Greider's cafe in Springfield shortly after 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon for a banquet which had been prepared under the direction of W. H. DeShara of this city and A. D. Hale of Springfield, Associated Press operators. Following the serving of a very elaborate menu the various members were called on for toasts and it was at the suggestion of some of them that the organization was made a permanent one. Milton Garges of Chicago, Associated Press district traffic chief, sounded the keynote of the organization in his toast, giving the following as the object of the club: To bring the men who make possible the telegraph news of the Associated Press into closer touch with each other and to promote the efficiency of the service. Mr. Garges stated that he realized the benefit that had resulted from previous meetings held by men of this circuit and hoped that this would be the birth of a nation wide organization and that he would do all in his power to make it include at least those branches that emanate from Chicago. Another of the speakers, W. L. Baptist of Bloomington read an excellent paper on "The Press Operator." He spoke of the operator as one of the main cogs in the present day metropolitan paper and ranks among the best posted men of the day on the news of the world. He also told of the nerve-racking ordeal with which an operator has to contend and said that as a whole the press operators constitute one of the most loyal classes of men.

A list of the officers elected follows:

Vice-president—W. H. DeShara, Jacksonville.

The task of drawing up a set of by-laws was left to these men. Ford M. Pettitt of the Illinois State Journal was chosen to draw an insignia for the organization and it was decided to hold the next meeting in Peoria in July, the date to be determined by President Hale.

A list of the charter members follows:

ROBERTSON GARAGE BADLY DAMAGED BY FLAMES

Sunday Afternoon Fire Attracted Big Crowd of Spectators—Origin a Mystery.

The substantial barn and garage of Col. John R. Robertson at 1203 West State street was badly damaged by fire Sunday afternoon. The flames were discovered at 5 o'clock, by the maid at the Robertson home and also by S. O. Barr, who resides next door. Both from the Robertson and Barr homes word was conveyed to the fire department.

The fire originated in the rear of the building in a mysterious way and had gained considerable headway at the time of discovery.

The fire attracted an unusually large crowd who gave their attention to getting everything out of the building, including the Pierce Arrow automobile, horses, ponies, vehicles, sleigh and other things. S. O. Barr, H. H. Taylor, R. I. Dunlap and Ollie Mack broke open a door and got the auto out. Despite the efforts of the fire fighters, the flames gradually made their way from the rear of the building until the whole upper portion was burned. The boys from the School for the Deaf also lent valuable assistance. The institution has an equipment of 1,000 feet of hose and with a piece of hose lent by the city fire department they got a connection with the six inch service main on the school grounds.

Mrs. Robertson expressed herself as entirely satisfied with the work of the firemen in their efforts to save the building and upon their quick run they made considering the slippery condition of the streets. She feels grateful to the boys of the School for the Deaf and the neighbors and friends who gave assistance. Col. Robertson is out of the city. The building was well insured.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

The members of the ladies aid of Westminster church were entertained at a birthday social yesterday afternoon from three until five by Mrs. Frank Orear at her residence on West College avenue. Mrs. Orear was assisted by Mrs. W. T. Brown, Mrs. Elizabeth Cline, Mrs. William McCormick, and Mrs. Jeanette Cunningham, ladies who have had birthdays during the past month. About thirty ladies were present. Miss Catherine Rogerson and Miss Emilene Brown each sang a solo adding greatly to the pleasure of the afternoon. Light refreshments were served.

BURNED BY EXPLOSION.

John Mitchell, the 10-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mitchell of 746 West Railroad street is suffering from burns received last Saturday afternoon. The lad secured a bottle which contained coal oil and threw the same into the fire, which caused an explosion. The whole upper part of the boy's body was burned severely, although it is not thought his injury fatal.

MISS AMANDA KIDDER DELIGHTS LARGE AUDIENCE BY READING

Director of the Schools of Expression of the Woman's College Read "The Passing of the Third Floor Back."

Miss Amanda Kidder, instructor of the expression department of the Woman's college, was heard Monday evening in a most interesting recital at Music hall. She gave Jerome K. Jerome's drama, "The Passing of the Third Floor Back."

In the present demand for the reading of dramas, it is refreshing indeed to hear one such as Miss Kidder give last evening, a drama, bright with quick repartee and strong with a message of brotherly love. "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" is the story of a boarding house in which everyone hates everyone else and incidentally himself. Into this place of discomfort there comes a stranger who rents the third floor back. He doesn't say much, he simply treats each person he meets as if that person were his ideal, rather than the broken piece of humanity he seems. And under the influence of such trusting confidence, each one does reach, in some degree, at least the perfection the stranger would have him reach. With the passing of the occupant of the third floor back there are many resolves, never to break the trust of the stranger and the boarding house is no longer a house of hate but a house of peace.

The many characters presented, their widely differing types, their spirited conversations, gave Miss Kidder a splendid opportunity for impersonation. Her strongest delineation was perhaps, in the character of the stranger whose understanding, sympathy and helpfulness were brought out by the reader's unusually sympathetic voice. The subtle change that comes to each of the boarders by means of the stranger's influence was handled so naturally that there was no jarring inconsistency in its being brought about. Miss Kidder has often pleased Jacksonville audiences, and her work of last night is but added proof of her ability to entertain by the presentation of worth while literature.

IS DOING GOOD WORK.

The "News" published at Epworth Iowa, in speaking of the work of Rev. Olenstlager of this city, who is conducting a series of meetings in the Methodist church there says: "Evangelist Olenstlager is doing excellent work. His sermons are sound and exceedingly helpful. He has enough of the epic way of saying things to make it interesting but is free from the many undesirable things that some evangelists think they must say in order to hold the interest. He is intensely earnest in his work and gives all the feeling that he is a Christian man, as well as a preacher." The article speaks also of his success with his Sunday afternoon men's meetings and of his excellent Sunday school work.

MATRIMONIAL

Thatcher-Osborn.

Friends of George W. Thatcher, who superintended the laying of the asphalt pavement on West College street two or three years ago, will be interested to know that he was recently married and that Miss Catharine Yates was maid of honor at the event. The Chicago Tribune in speaking of the wedding says: "Chicagoans found interest in the marriage of Miss Agnes Osborn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Osborn of Morris, Ill., to George William Thatcher of River Forest, which took place in Morris on Saturday at 4:30 o'clock. Miss Catharine Yates of Springfield was the maid of honor, and John Moore of Riverside, best man. The other attendants included Miss Helen Thatcher, Miss Caroline Post and Henry Thatcher.

Floral Death Legends.

The Mexicans marigolds are known as death flowers from an exceedingly appropriate legend that they sprang up on the ground stained by the life blood of those who fell victims to the love of gold and cruelty of the early Spanish settlers. Among the Virginian tribes, too, red clover was supposed to have sprung from and to be colored by the blood of the red man slain in battle with the white invaders. In a similar manner the red poppies which followed the plowing of the field of Waterloo were said to have sprung from the blood of the killed and wounded in that famous battle. According to tradition, the Danish invasion is the cause of the daneweed, a coarse, asteraceous plant common in England, as it sprang from the blood of Danes slain in battle, and if cut on a certain day in the year it bleeds. The dwarf elder, for the same reason, is called danewort and daneblood.—Suburban Life.

BOOSTERS' CLUB MAY GET JACKSONVILLE FILMS

Free Exhibition Will Be Given This Morning at the Majestic to Show What Baltimore is Doing in This Line.

The committee of the Young Men's Boosters club, consisting of Robt. Reed, Claude Vail and Paul Fritchey, appointed by Pres. Ralph Dunlap, of the club to investigate the cost and feasibility of having motion picture films made of the city of Jacksonville are in position to make a complete report at the next meeting of the club.

The advertising of cities by the means of motion pictures which are shown to thousands of people in different cities and states are proving to be the greatest of all forms of municipal advertising for producing results. Although the initial expense seems somewhat exorbitant, nevertheless the pictures tell more than mere words. The Boosters' club are to be congratulated for seeing the possibilities that may accrue if they can own and permit the many members of the motion picture exchanges to use copies of films made of this city.

Mayor Preston and Mr. Coyle, the city librarian of the city of Baltimore, upon the written request of Secretary Fritchey sent four films made of that city solely for advertising purposes. Through the courtesy of Green M. Luttrell these films will be shown at the Majestic on E. State street this morning beginning at 10:30 sharp. It is hoped that as many of the members of the boosters' and business men will take advantage of this free show and see on canvas the same type of pictures as could be used to show the good things about Jacksonville.

It is hoped that the directors of the Chamber of Commerce will have the privilege of seeing these pictures before they are returned in order to see the merits in such kind of advertising and co-operate with the Boosters club in working toward making this a realization if they so desire. Everyone who is interested is invited to attend the free show at 10:30 this morning to see these four films of the city of Baltimore.
